-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 3-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Branch et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,174,311).

Branch et al. disclose a surgical implant (10) comprising a device body having a head-end and a tail-end and an overall narrow width with a relatively taller height (see Fig. 2), an indent in said tail end (26), a set of intersecting and symmetrical planar surfaces enveloping the device body, a taper between said head and tail ends, and a textured surface disposed on said two opposing ones of said set of intersecting and symmetrical planar surfaces. The indent is a hole that fits and matches a corresponding tooth in said tool, the taper is oriented posterior in a patient as well as allow said tool to be used for an incision only large enough to accommodate the largest cross section of the device body. Also disclosed is a method for surgically implanting a prosthetic device in a human spine to promote bone fusion of two adjacent vertebrae. This method comprises an incision of an annulus fibrosis, removing a diseased disc, inserting two surgical implants, packing bone grafts wherein permanent bone growth and fusion can occur. The incision in the annulus fibrosis after the step of packing the bone grafts is closed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Branch et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,174,311).

Branch et al. disclose the claimed invention except for the device body is about 6-9 millimeters in width, 10-16 millimeters in height, and about 22 millimeters long. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the implant with these dimension, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892 for art cited of interest.
